BRUSSELS, June 1.—Rumors that the Red Star line steamer vaderiand had met with a serious accident are unlounded. The Red Star line officials here say that the steamer's delay in leaving Antwerp was due to the fog and a slight accident to her machinery while she was in the river Scheldt. The accident was repaired and the vessel is now that a total of 522 deaths were covered on her way to Dover. by inquests and official investigations
